Linking up Peace River With Provincial System a
Knotty Question

GIROUX RESOLUTION STARTS ARGUMENT

Debate is Adjourned in Effort to Reach a Compromise

Government and opposition tangled in a few rounds of debate Monday afternoon over a resolution proposed by L. A. Giroux, of Grande Prairie, to have Peace River and the rest of the country linked up with the remainder of the province by the Alberta telephone system.

Mr. Giroux desired immediate telephone connection. Later he agreed to drop the word immediate, and offered the lengthy substitute as an amendment which required that wherever there are difficulties of construction, that the government should continue to have the possibility of providing long distance communication as soon as possible.

Mr. Premier's View
Hon. J. G. Brown, premier, said that the government had no objection to the long distance service to the Peace River, but that the government was not prepared to accept the long distance service to the rest of the province. He said that the government was not prepared to accept the long distance service to the rest of the province, but that the government was not prepared to accept the long distance service to the rest of the province.

PREMIER BROWNLEE MAKES EXPLANATION

Amendments to Several Acts and Private Bills Considered

For the space of an hour at the end of the session of the week Monday afternoon legislation was poured into the hopper with great gusto and little interruption, second readings of bills being run through at top speed. Most significant in the list was the natural resources bill, officially termed a bill respecting the transfer of the public lands to the province, which Premier Brownlee explained.

The bill consists almost entirely of the agreement signed between representatives of the Dominion and province for the transfer of the resources, the premier stating that it provides additionally for the retention of the school lands as a trust fund, (2) for mutual agreement for developing of water powers, etc. In forest preserves and the natural parks, (3) requesting the transfer of the right of the Hudson Bay Company in lands hereunder change by the company.

With the debate on the speech from the throne out of the way, members are taking a more optimistic view of things. Even the question of immigration is viewed favorably, and the general impression is that Hon. George Handley was right when he said Alberta was "on the eve of a colonization movement, but on the eve of a colonization movement, but on the eve of a colonization movement."

The subject of conversation to and around the corridors on Monday was the oil. The members are quite enthusiastic over the latest developments in Calgary and believe it will mean a big boost for Alberta in every way. They are not only interested in some other, but also in the oil. They are not only interested in some other, but also in the oil.

The Proper Basis for a Deal.

Some Opposition members of Parliament went to "present" the Hudson Bay railway project to the prairie provinces, arguing that the road would be of benefit only to the prairie country and that those who are to get the benefit should build the road.

The idea, of course, is that if the prairie provinces are not willing to undertake this enterprise at their risk, western people must be trying to get the Dominion to construct a road which they know will not pay for the exclusive advantage of the West.

So far as Alberta is concerned, the tax-payers of this province have no great anxiety to put any more money into provincial railway projects, and they have scarcely more to give than the construction of the Hudson Bay railway than have people in eastern Canada.

Still, Alberta cannot object to taking on this proposal if it is placed upon a fair footing. Would the authors of it be willing, as a condition of the prairie provinces undertaking the Hudson Bay project, that the Dominion should compensate these provinces for the loss of land that has been given away to secure the construction of railways "for the general benefit of Canada"?

Obstructing Responsible Government.

Having sufficiently demonstrated their conviction that the people of Canada are not capable of governing themselves through their elected representatives, Mr. Meighen and his friends will be absolved from all responsibility if they now decide to leave a stiff neck and perverse generation to reap the consequences of its refusal to put them in power last October.

The Opposition were entirely within their rights and in harmony with public interests in demanding to know whether the present government had the confidence of the members of the House of Commons. But they are going beyond the legitimate privileges of an Opposition and disregarding the interests of the public in attempting to block the business of Parliament after the members have declared their intention to support the Ministry.

The difference between the test of opinion they called for at the opening of the session and the filibustering tactics in which they have since been engaged is just the difference between insisting upon the proper form of representative government and trying to make representative government impossible. The Opposition party has become an obstructive party, whose purpose is to frustrate the will of the people as expressed by their chosen spokesmen.

The Place to Begin.

The city council declined to revive the early closing controversy which a few years ago provided difficulties more than enough for preceding councils, by refusing to disturb the arrangement that was at that time adopted in hope that it would be a permanent settlement of an aggravated and aggravating question.

But refusal of the council to take action may not end the matter. The prospect rather is that it will not do so. The fact that there were three petitions on the table at the same time, each asking for something different than the others, is proof enough that there are three important and more or less aggressive groups of citizens who are personally concerned in the issue, and that any action satisfactory to one of them could probably be unsatisfactory to the other two.

If the circumstances were such as to suggest to council that inaction was the better part of discretion, they equally suggest that this decision itself may not be unanimously acceptable.

Should council be required to deal with the question, how would it be to wipe the slate clean and make a new beginning? The present council was not elected on an early closing platform of any kind, and has no clear mandate from the electors to do anything in the matter. There is a fourth party, not represented by petitions, which interests in the matter direct and indirect, are very real, and whose right to be heard cannot be ignored. That party is the general public of the city. And it is to do their bidding that the city council is elected, rather than to carry out the wishes of any particular group of citizens.

The present council may very properly take the ground that if it has to deal with this question at all it will not begin by guessing what the people of the city want, but will take means to find out precisely what their will is, by holding a plebiscite covering the whole subject. That could be done by submitting to the electors a series of questions such as this:

1. Should the city council say by legislation that stores and other places of business must close at certain hours in the evening?
 2. If so, should council allow business places to be kept open later than usual on Saturday evening?
 3. Should council see to it by law that business places must be closed during the afternoon of one week-day in each week?
 4. If so, should it be on Wednesday or on Saturday?
- The answers to these questions would provide council with a basis of known public opinion upon which to take action, and would give to the action taken the force and authority of declared public approval.

MANHOOD
 Boy, write it down for your guidance the whole of your journey through:
 Men may be the end and wiser, but none can be cleaner than you.

But even the strongest in body, the great feats of life they may achieve, may never be fairer and squarer than you.
 You may be weak in your labor, for that is a physical matter.
 But in all the young virtues of manhood you can equal the greatest and best.

If it said you were cheerful and kindly, if it said you were honest and true,
 No more could be told of a monarch, for the best has been spoken of you.

For honor and truth have no shadows, no differing parts or degrees.
 And in virtue the humblest can equal the mightiest man that has been.

You may not be clever or skillful, you may not be strong as the fawn.
 But if you're the kind of a honest, there is none can be straighter than you.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

WHEN RHIMIDES ARE INTERESTING

Lord Asquith, in London, tells his countrymen that they eat too much.

Most of the dissolving forms of illness," he says, "are due to malnutrition, but to wrong eating." And over Judge Clegg, while spending a period in one of his steel company's hospitals learning correct eating, he advocates the same thing.

Both gentlemen are right. So are the thousands who said the same thing without ever breaking into print.

Then, from the statements of Lord Asquith and Judge Clegg achieved front page space is not due to the originality of the thought.

It is because we are unduly interested in personalities.

A tremor from a famous man is more interesting than a new idea from an unknown.

An idea becomes alive only when it is associated with a personality.

Our countrymen by most beneficial reforms is circulated.

It generally originates in the mind of some "obscure" person. Then it is advanced among the unknown, but it is not until it is taken up by a person of position that it becomes alive.

It is because we are unduly interested in personalities that it broadcasts it to everyone, and in time it becomes an accepted fact that it is part of the public consciousness.

It has become a proverb that "the words of the rich man are accepted as law." It is not the words of the poor man that are accepted as law.

Having people in whom the world will listen—even if they are not the best of the best—has been the intelligent minority—plays an important part in advancement.

 From the Edmonton Bulletin, Saturday, February 27th, 1886.

John B. Gough is dead.

John B. Gough, one of the half-breed prisoners, was released about 1846.

His release was the result of a petition which was sent to the North West Territories. The C.P.R. had asked for his release, and the government had agreed to it.

FINGERS CRACK
 Dr. W. A. Evans writes: I am having trouble, and do every winter, with cracks on the ends of my fingers. My skin is very dry and flakes off. Will you please tell me what the cause is and what I can do to remedy it?

Reply:
 In all probability you work and live in air that is very dry. If so, humidity is the cause. It is necessary to keep your skin moist. Use a good skin cream or ointment. It will help to keep the skin soft and prevent cracking.

That is the case, the remedy suggests itself.

The proper use of grease should help you.

SKIN DISEASES
 M. H. writes: I have a skin disease that looks like ringworm. It is on my back and is very itchy. What can I do to get rid of it?

Reply:
 There are several kinds of ringworm. It is a skin disease caused by a fungus. It is very contagious. It is necessary to keep the skin clean and dry. Use a good skin cream or ointment. It will help to keep the skin soft and prevent cracking.

COMMUNISM AND CAPITALISM.
 Glasgow Herald. It is very doubtful if any political or economic agreement with the Soviet government will put an end to the intrigues which are constantly going on in the world. The world is a very complex place, and the Soviet government is a very powerful one. It is necessary to keep the world in balance, and to prevent the Soviet government from becoming too powerful.

MR. HANLEY'S STATEMENT.
 To the Editor of the Bulletin:
 I am, your reference of Feb. 29th to Mr. Hanley's address before the Agricultural Club at the University of Alberta.

Mr. Hanley did address our club. Our club is anxious that nothing of a political kind should be associated with the activities. Therefore, we would like you to modify the statement made in your paper on page 1, or Friday's issue.

It is true that Mr. Hanley made a compliment to Mr. Marshall for inaugurating the Provincial School of Agriculture; he did not mention the Dominion Parliament. Furthermore, he simply said that he had no opinion of the importance of these institutions. He regretted that conditions had rendered it necessary that some of them should be closed.

His report would give a somewhat different view of the whole statement. Mr. Hanley is not at all sensational, and is given for his courteous reference to all government institutions.

CLAR. O. ASPEND, President of the Agricultural Club, Feb. 24, 1926.

Fabel: Once there was a man who did without a thing even though he had the money to buy it.

Why is Smith taking deep-sea diving lessons? "He is going to try it next month to look at the bottom he bought from a friend of his."

An old sail was watching a crowd of youngsters playing seriously near a river. "Why is it that they are so serious?" he asked. "They are so serious because they are so serious."

Denotation held the audience spell-bound as a man rushed across the stage and clutched the speaker by the arm.

"Who was this man," ran across the stage, "that dared to interrupt Mr. Hanley's lecture in the midst of his speech?"

"There is a Dr. Pillsbury in the audience," asked Mr. Hanley.

"You are wanted on the phone," said Mr. Hanley. "The doctor passed on to the next speaker."

Wetaskiwin Water Source at Present Inadequate in Summer Months

WETASKIWIN.—The Wetaskiwin country, for some time, has been considered to be a very thorough and well watered country, and it is not sufficient for the requirements of the citizens during the summer months. It has been decided to sink a test well on Monk Street East at once, and if there is a large flow, the country may decide to sink a well sixteen feet in diameter, and possibly 150 feet in depth.

During the past few days, the Wetaskiwin Purification Plant has shipped about 60,000 rabbit skins, which were all purchased in this district.

Self-Insured Taxes.—The subject of a very thoughtful and witty address given by Prof. Ottewill of the extension department of the University of Alberta at the Kinsmen luncheon Thursday evening. The amount spent for tobacco in Canada was about the same figure as the cost of public education. In Alberta, if the amount spent for liquor was applied to education, it would not be the least of the government as well as the demand of all the school boards. The professor also referred to the billions of dollars spent for radio and golf fields.

Smoke and results of War Veterans will be held in the "Eke" Hall on the evening of March 4th. The object of the meeting is the organization of the Veterans of Wetaskiwin and district.

Miss Florence Owen, formerly of Wetaskiwin, was united in marriage to William on Monday. Henry James Lankford, of that city, they will make their home in Wetaskiwin. George Markey met with a painful fall on Wednesday, when he had his thumb badly jammed while working with his well drilling rig.

The big sporting event of Wetaskiwin this week is the mixed basketball, in which twenty three clubs are participating. There are three events, the primary, secondary and combined.

The Petrolists basketball team, composed of Mike Tondak, evening with the team of that town, were defeated by the team of 28 to 10.

George Frederick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Helmer, of the Battle River district, passed away on Sunday at the age of 27 years and six months. The funeral took place on Wednesday, afternoon, at the St. Mary's church.

William Brown, died Wednesday at the age of sixty-one years. He resided near the town of Wetaskiwin, and was a member of the Kinsmen club. The funeral took place on Wednesday, afternoon, at the St. Mary's church.

Keith Enderby, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Wagner, died Wednesday at the age of three years and six months. The funeral took place on Wednesday, afternoon, at the St. Mary's church.

Charleston Contest
Will Be Close One

Keen interest in being shown in the Charleston contest was evident at the Paramount theatre on Thursday night in conjunction with the regular vaudeville bill. It looks as if the entry list will be even longer than at the first contest, which attracted a capacity crowd to the theatre.

The vaudeville bill for the last three days of the contest is in every respect. The headline attraction is provided by a singing and dancing team, "You Gotta Listen," for which Harry Kratt has been billed as all star cast. The reason for the change of date of the contest is that of Harry Kratt and his partner, who have been unable to appear in the contest.

Another clever team of performers is that of Harry Kratt and Mrs. Conard, who will appear in the contest. This week's program is that of Harry Kratt, who is the "Adventure of Maria."

"Hearts of the World" a Splendid Romance

David Wark Griffith's screen masterpiece never grown old. For years "The Birth of a Nation" has been breaking attendance records, and the same thing can be said for "Hearts of the World," a magnificent romance, which was shown at the theatre.

Another clever team of performers is that of Harry Kratt and Mrs. Conard, who will appear in the contest. This week's program is that of Harry Kratt, who is the "Adventure of Maria."

Actor Knight Makes Re-appearance Here in "The Only Way"

Sir John Martin-Harvey is universally recognized as the leading exponent of the dramatic school of acting and when he appears in "The Only Way," "The Road of the World," "The Road of the World," it is small wonder that he is so acclaimed.

Monday night Sir John returned to the New Empire theatre after an absence of two years, and commenced a three-day engagement with "The Only Way." This play, which is a adaptation of "A Tale of Two Cities" is familiar to either in original or stage version to almost everybody, and therefore requires little comment.

As Sidney Carter the brilliant lawyer, the human sympathy in part, who in the end made the supreme sacrifice for the sake of a lady, he was fitted to the part in large measure. His performance is of the greatest convincing and convincing, his voice and his interpretation, compelling, powerful and sympathetic.

ECONOMY STEP AT ROYAL ALEX. IS RESENTED

Protest Against Proposed Reductions to Be Filed With City

TWO OFFICIALS ARE ON HOSPITAL BOARD

Question Is Tabled Pending Further Action of Board

Objecting to the reported proposed reductions in the salaries of nurses in training at the Royal Alexandra Hospital, the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council at their regular meetings held Monday night decided to strongly oppose any action in this respect.

In accordance with the policy of strict economy at the hospital for the year the hospital board considered the reductions and the labor council, taking its stand, the labor members on the board will oppose any salary cuts.

Four on board. The labor members of the hospital board are Alderman A. Farnio, E. E. Owen, A. H. Kowit, and J. W. Heron, who all opposed the reduction of the last salary scale. The board, the council last night opposed the reduction and the labor council, taking its stand, the labor members on the board will oppose any salary cuts.

E. J. Thompson, vice-president, was in the chair in the absence of A. Farnio, president.

GOVERNMENT WON'T BUILD BRANCH URGED

Holds Big Expenditure on Lac la Biche-St. Lima Line Unjustified

Joseph M. Dechen, fighting member for Beaver River, sheathed the sword in the legislative again Monday afternoon when pressing the government for the completion of a fifty-mile branch line from the A. and G. W. railway at Lac la Biche to St. Lima. He proposed a resolution to this effect, advising a recommendation that another line be provided for as soon as possible west of the Lac la Biche to serve Plamondon, Charron, Sarnail and Donville.

Mr. Dechen, seconded by George Mills, Athabasca, urged the extension of the line, stating that the line would be a great benefit to the people of the district, and that the government should build it.

"An attempt has been made to hold up the spending of money on that grade, proposed as a feeder to the A. and G. W. line, as a means of the former administration," remarked Mr. Dechen. The speaker said that the steel has never been laid on the grade, and that the government has been spending money on the line for years, and that the government should build it.

John V. Smith, minister of railways, said the government could not accept the resolution, the fifty miles of steel proposed meaning an expenditure of $125,000 at least. There was no "economic justification" for the line at present, he asserted. No settlement for a long distance along the route could be made until a region primarily the natural zone of the Canadian National if extended northward from St. Paul des Metis.

Can't Add to It. The province already has $14,000,000 involved in the A. and G. W. and we cannot afford to add to the debt without good reason, the minister said. He claimed the extension of Plamondon to the line would be well worth the cost, but he was not taking the line to the eastward railway line.

Mr. Dechen, before withdrawing

ANTI-DUMPING ACT WORRYING WHOLESALE

Ottawa Asked Not to Apply It to Butte From Australia

Exclusive to Bulletin
OTTAWA, March 2.—A deputation of Canadian Wholesale Importers, who are handling Australian butter and are interviewing with Hon. James A. Robb, minister of finance, and George H. Bovey, minister of customs and excise and John W. M. Macpherson, minister of agriculture, urging that the anti-dumping duty on butter be not applied to the duty of 1 cent a pound, provided that difference is not 15 per cent in value of the butter in the country.

The duty now paid is 1 cent a pound but the anti-dumping clause applied as the butter is being sold in Canada at a price lower than in Australia, for home consumption. As to the anti-dumping clause whatever is the difference between the price sold in Canada and the price sold in Australia is added to the normal duty of 1 cent a pound, provided that difference is not 15 per cent in value of the butter in the country.

The deputation was told by the government that the latter has no definite intention to apply the duty to producers in Australia, but that the government will accept the full anti-dumping duty and make a refund if the importers show that the difference between the price in Australia and the price in Canada is not more than 5 per cent.

SAW-FLY IS THREATENING WHEATFIELDS

Prof. Strickland Heard on Proposed Changes in Pests Act

Alberta wheat fields are threatened with a new pest, the wheat stem sawfly, according to Prof. J. H. Strickland, of the University of Alberta, told members of the legislature at the first meeting of the agricultural committee Tuesday morning.

ALBERTA PROHIBITIONISTS WANT A RETURN TO PROHIBITION. THE UNITED STATES HAVE HAD PROHIBITION FOR SIX YEARS---HERE'S WHAT HIGH AUTHORITIES THERE HAVE TO SAY:

HOW AND WHY PROHIBITION IS DEMORALIZING, CRIMINALIZING AND IMPRISONIZING AMERICAN YOUTH

After Six Years of Character-Destroying Prohibition, Prosecuting and District Attorneys Everywhere Report That More Than 80 per Cent of the Crimes of Violence Are Being Committed by Mere Boys and Girls—Cost of Crime Far Above That of Government, With 11,000 Murders a Year Thrown In.

Respect for Law in the American Home Swept Away by Prohibition and Contempt for Law Taught by Example and Precept—Corruption of Government and Enactment of Law in the Volstead Act Helped Undermine Respect for Government in the Minds of the Youth.

Result Is Shown in Demoralization and Crime Conditions Unparalleled in the History of the Nation—Conditions Growing Rapidly Worse, as Professional Dry Propagandists and Political Preachers Barter the Moral Life Blood of American Boys and Girls for Gold.

The editor of the Literary Digest had before him reports from a large number of prosecuting and district attorneys throughout the United States showing with unanimity that more than 80 per cent of the crime of violence in the United States is committed when he wrote the following sweeping indictment of American youth:

"The teen age totes its own; it is saturated with the sophistries which usually distinguish adults morally gone to seed; from the youth of the land the jails and prisons are recruiting a victimhood who should still be playing marbles or dressing dolls. It would be squandering time and space to recite details with which every newspaper reader is familiar. Every one can recall reading of rum parties engaged in by high school boys and girls, of young murderers, thieves and bandits brought to bay a sickeningly large number."

Whether the voice that speaks is that of the prison commissioner of bone dry (1) Kansas or Albany, New York, it enunciates the same disquieting story. A. B. Carney, chairman of the State Board of Administration of Kansas, in his last report to the Kansas legislature pleading for additional penitentiaries to house the steadily increasing number of convicts, pointed out that the most desperate criminals are all of reformatory age, between 16 and 25. He also emphasized the fact that in 20 months there had been an increase of more than 80 per cent in the population of the reformatory, and that 500 Kansas boys and girls were in the juvenile prisons.

The Literary Digest states that the Prison Commissioner of New York notes with horror that a large percentage of the criminals of today are mere boys and girls, and that Chief Magistrate McAdoo of New York City says there is no doubt that the terrible situation portrayed by the prison commission is true. "My own experience," says Mr. McAdoo, "shows that nearly all present offenders, particularly in crimes of violence, are from 16 to 25 years of age."

Boys and Girls Under 16 Becoming Criminal
Turning from New York and Kansas to Philadelphia, where all the powers of the Federal, State and municipal governments were invoked to enforce the law, the district attorney there is lamenting the fact that boys and girls under 16 are committing every type of crime of violence and degradation.

"It is everywhere agreed," says District Attorney Botan, referring to children under 16, "that the older brothers and sisters of these boys and girls, that is to say, young men and women from 18 to 21, form the overwhelming portion of active criminals of today. The juvenile court offenders (under 16) are taking their names from the criminal class rather than they are. They are, in their own way, committing every type of crime of violence and degradation; they are really serving a novitiate."

From Philadelphia we go to Denver and hear citizens' committee reporting that "there was more debauchery, more licentiousness and more drunkenness among school and university students than one could have believed possible and that vice in every form was practiced openly. The committee reported that it saw boys and girls by the dozens drunk in dives, and that the entire hotels were given over to the debauchery of youth."

Such is the disheartening story of the moral degradation of the youth under prohibition—crime of violence, moral degradation, drunkenness on a scale never before known in the history of this country.

Bartering Morals of Youth for Gold

And while youth is being criminalized, demoralized, debauched and imprisoned as the result of the more weak-kneed due to prohibition, we hear the cowardly mouthpieces of Volsteadism, claiming to speak in the name of some of the Christian churches of America, proclaiming that the dry law is the economic wonder of the age—that it is the foundation upon which the prosperity of the nation rests.

Thus they put themselves—and such churches as they speak for—on record as willing to barter away the morality of American youth for money—especially money for the rich trusts that bought up dry organizations to throw up a prohibition smoke screen to hide their own delinquencies.

The Detroit Free Press, formerly one of the leading editorial champions of prohibition, in its famous editorial of last April in which it set forth its reasons for abandoning the dry cause, summed up the situation with respect to the youth of the country with words which it said were true:

"A really powerful argument by those who first urged national prohibition was a contention that it would protect the youth of the country. There was a general admission that many of the old-time rakes were beyond redemption and would cause trouble for time, but the dry advocates contended that when the reeling generation disappeared a new generation which knew not the taste of intoxicants would appear. The plan was attractive. It was a big factor in creating prohibition sentiment. It was difficult for a conscientious person to fight a project that might protect the young."

Prohibition Ruining the Young

"But it is a sad, depressing, disappointing fact that the Eight-

Chief Magistrate McAdoo Paints This Ugly Picture of Prohibitionized Youth

Chief Magistrate McAdoo of New York, in interview October 31:

"We have got to get hold of the children between the ages of 5 and 14 especially and try to reach them spiritually and morally."

"Great masses of young fellows in the twenties are practically all our criminals in the outlaw class. They have deliberately turned their backs on God. They have no emotions of pity, love, friendship, gratitude or sense of responsibility."

"They despise their parents, they hate the law, and are in open war with its officers. They live by bootlegging, peddling narcotics, sponging on unfortunate women and their own families, terrorizing the neighborhood, blackmailing, extorting, and spending the money they get on gambling and women of their own type."

teenth Amendment has brought no blessing to the youth of America. It is a fair contention, on the contrary, that it has brought a curse."

"The fearful increase of drinking, and the consequent deterioration of moral standards, to say nothing of health among boys and girls of high school age and even of more tender years since the reign of the bootlegger commenced, is as deplorable an evil as has ever befallen this country. The evil the regulated saloon did the young was trivial in comparison with the devastation caused by what has succeeded."

"The situation, instead of improving, is growing steadily worse. Conditions were never as bad as they are today, and there is no light ahead."

"We are a nation of hypocrites and inhuman law breakers. Harder assassins and bandits because they pander to our appetite. Our youth is being ruined. And are getting no sort of adequate compensation."

"To political preachers—to professional dry propagandists—there is sufficient compensation for the ruination of youth in the extra dividends that prohibition is supposed to be putting into the treasury of the purchasers of the dry organizations. They put the moral life blood of the boys and girls of America on one side of the scale and balance it with gold. The moral welfare of the boys and girls is pushed over the counter in exchange for dividends."

Crime Conditions Terrifying

We are told by the prosecuting and district attorneys who have the records of criminality before them that more than 80 per cent of the crime of violence in this country is being committed by mere boys and girls. We are told by the conservative American Bar Association that the cost of crime in the United States is in excess of the cost of government—$5,500,000,000 a year—or $750,000,000 more than our actual annual expenditures during the war when all the resources of the nation were being exerted to win the war—and by the conservative American Bar Association that there are more than 11,000 murders a year in the United States. The New York Times places the cost of crime in the United States at more than ten billion dollars a year, and the recently created National Crime Commission, when it met at the call of Judge Tracy, declared that crime conditions are "terrifying beyond all expression."

Those are the conditions after six years of prohibition. No such conditions exist in England, France, Canada, or other non-prohibition countries.

Why do they exist in America? The answer is to be found in the demoralization that prohibition has wrought.

Prohibition has demoralized the American home where the children of America are reared. General Andrews tells us that prohibition is corrupting the agents of the Government all the way up and all the way down. Law and respect for law are flouted in the homes. Throughout a period of corruption of Government unparalleled in the history of this or any other nation, the people have lost much of their confidence in the integrity of the Government they set up for their protection.

Why Prohibition Demoralizes Youth

Children in the home—in how many millions of homes none can tell with any degree of accuracy—see their parents violating the law, flouting the law, deriding the law. They know that Congress wrote a law in the Volstead Act and that the Government is trying to enforce a lie upon the people—trying to make them believe a lie—and they know this is an immoral and unjust thing. They know that the prohibition law is not obeyed by many of those who voted to put it on the statute books, and by many who advocated the law, and by many who administer the law. Instead of being taught respect for law in the home, as they were in former years, they are taught defiance of law. Instead of being taught respect for government, as they were in former years, they hear their parents and neighbors and friends discussing how corrupt and hypocritical government has become under prohibition, and they go out of their homes instilled with contempt for law and contempt for government—and the prosecuting and district attorneys tell us how they are writing the criminal records of this country today.

A flask and gun are now considered standard equipment and are supposed to accompany every tough kid when he steps into gang pants—Will Rogers.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL BETTER THAN PROHIBITION

A. L. Sanders, U.F.A. Member for Stettler, Tells Legislature of Observations Across the International Line

From The Edmonton Bulletin, February 20.

One of the most ardent prohibition members of the legislature is A. L. Sanders, U.F.A. member for Stettler, who has risen to the full height of his six-foot-two on many an occasion and declaimed against the evils of alcohol.

Yesterday he took the assembly by surprise by rising to the same level and voicing his satisfaction with the present liquor control law of the province, taking issue with fellow prohibitionists of the week's convention here who asked for a plebiscite on the question of beer halls at the next provincial election.

"The problem of the beer halls will adjust itself," he observed. "Leave them alone for a few years and they will eliminate themselves." Mr. Sanders said he had visited the "dry" United States recently and comparison of liquor laws was all in favor of Alberta. "I saw more drunks in fifteen minutes in one city there than I have seen in Edmonton in a week," he declared.

Law-Breaking in Rural Sections Equals Cities, Reports Missouri Crime Board

Crime conditions throughout Missouri are increasing at an alarming rate, according to Arthur V. Lashly, of St. Louis, operating director of the Missouri Association of Criminal Justice, reports the St. Louis Times. Surveys just completed in one country in each of the 35 judicial districts away from the large cities show rural conditions to be comparable to conditions in the larger cities, according to Lashly, who was formerly a member of the headquarters committee of the Anti-Saloon League, which promised that prohibition would reduce crime by 80 per cent.

"Our surveys show definitely that St. Louis, Kansas City and Springfield are not alone in this evil," said Mr. Lashly. "It reaches out to virtually every small town in the State and means just as much to the welfare of the farmers as the inhabitants of a city apartment."

PROHIBITION A BAD LAW

Former Police Commissioner Knight of New York City is quoted in an interview in the New York Evening Telegraph of January 20:

"What about prohibition?" "We suggested."

"I could tell you more about prohibition if we had it," chuckled the man whose business it was to prohibit.

"Present prohibition laws can never be enforced in this city or any place in the whole country under existing conditions," he continued. "If the city, State and Federal enforcement forces organized and cooperated in the most intensive way, and if all three forces were increased to include three times as many men as they have today, there might be some chance for prohibition."

"Do you consider it a bad law as it stands?"

"Any law which is generally disregarded and which can not be enforced is a bad law."

MUST MODIFY VOLSTEAD ACT TO CHILDREN, SAYS BIG SISTERS

Child Welfare Leaders Declare That Prohibition Has Broken Down the Moral Standards of the Young, and That a Change of the Law Is Necessary

The Associated Press carried the following dispatch from Chicago, January 20:

Several leaders in the Big Brothers and Big Sisters Federation, in convention here to plan for the future will be of the opinion of the land, said today that modification of the prohibition law was necessary to achieve the best results for the country. The federation is pan-national and child welfare workers are here from all parts of the country.

Mrs. Sidney C. Borg, president of the Jewish Big Sisters of New York and vice president of the National Federation, said that in her work she had noticed much harm resulting from prohibition. "When the law was first enacted I was strongly in favor of it, but since I have seen how it has broken down the morale of the young, my opinion has changed. I have found the moral standards of the youth with whom I have come into contact have declined because of it. There is open defiance of it among the young people on every hand."

Mrs. Smith Alfred, president of the Big Sisters Association of Queens, and H. A. Weber, executive secretary of the Catholic Big Brothers of the Bronx, New York, also spoke against the prohibition law as having worked to weaken children's morals.

HERE'S HOW INDIANA'S DRY LAW UPLIFTS THE MORALS OF YOUTH

A press dispatch from Michigan City, Ind., under date of December 4, carried this news:

"Prohibition authorities today continued their drive on immorality involving high school girls and many of the city's best married men. Men have been entertaining girls at— and have forced them to drink intoxicating liquors, the girls testified."

Richard J. Krouse, superintendent of the police department and Captain of Detectives Earl G. Laupka declared the situation in the high school was alarming. A number of arrests are expected to follow the seven made during the last three weeks.

U. OF P. JUNIOR'S BACK BROKEN IN BRAWL, ENDING TWO-DAY ORGY

Fight Over One of the Girls Present, With All in Drunken Stupor, Leads to Tragedy

Special Press Dispatch—

Philadelphia, Jan. 11.—Day and night revels of college students on the University of Pennsylvania campus, with prominent fraternity men in attendance, liquor in over-abundance and brawls over attractive young girls, are the subject of a joint investigation by local police and university authorities.

As the climax of one wild orgy which started on New Year's eve and continued for two nights and a day, Charles Nicholas Kessler, Jr., of Los Angeles, a junior student in the Wharton School at the university and a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity, is lying at the polyclinic hospital with a broken back.

Police have learned that Kessler's back was broken on the second night of that long orgy when a fellow student in a drunken mood over the affections of one of the girls present, threw him violently against a heavy table.

The party started New Year's eve, continued through the night, morning and afternoon, and on the second evening, with the liquor still flowing freely, and everyone present in a drunken stupor, the fight started and ended with Kessler in a heap on the floor.

THE REPUBLIC OR PROHIBITION—WHICH?

Dry crusaders appear to be in moral fear that the Republic will be overthrown by the rebellion against the prohibition law. They, of course, see that prohibition has undermined respect for all law, but they would rather that the Republic should fall than give up prohibition.

Senator Robinson of Indiana, speaking at F. Scott McLeod of the Anti-Saloon League, at a prohibition meeting in South Bend, seems to have some fears about the stability of the Republic under prohibition. He was quoted by the Indianapolis News as saying:

"I want the time never to come when historians anywhere can write about the rise and fall of the great American Republic."

Quite a simple matter to spoil a good yarn for future historians, Senator. Get rid of prohibition law that has been pushing the Republic toward the brink of destruction. The Republic, or prohibition? Which?

WOMAN EVANGELIST SAYS PROHIBITION IS FAILURE

Mrs. Mattie Crawford, evangelist, is known as the woman "Billy" Sunday.

In a sermon in Liberty Hall, in El Paso, Tex., January 22, according to the El Paso Times, she said:

"Prohibition is a failure, not because it is wrong to drink but because it is another 'don't.' There are too many 'don'ts' in this country. We don't need laws to tell us what not to do. We need Christianity in our lives. If there was a thoroughly Christian nation we would not have laws to curb our morals. The Christian law would suffice."

The National Industrial Conference Board of Washington sponsored a widely published report that Federal, State and local taxes increased from $2,919,000,000 in 1913 to $10,252,000,000 in 1924. Hold on, there must be something wrong here. The Anti-Saloon League solemnly promised the country that with the adoption of prohibition taxes would be reduced by 80 per cent, and that the few policemen that it might be necessary to retain would have nothing more serious to occupy their minds than tiddewinks. Of course, in fairness, some of this Federal taxation increase was due to the law, but that is not true of the tremendous increases in State and local taxes. Prohibition, while cutting down the public revenues, has contributed enormously to the sum total of public taxes.

Well, and if it isn't our old friend, Doc Wiley that's now complaining that Uncle Sam is "pizen," the people's savior by doping it with chemicals to prevent fermentation. Fermentation, for the benefit of those who do not know, is a natural process of converting the sugars in fruit juices into alcohol—even in defiance of statutory enactments by Congress. And badly as "Doc" Wiley hates alcohol, he says that Uncle Sam's "pizen" are worse than the alcohol in hard cider.

Tulsa Parents Complain to Judge of Drinking Among High School Students

"I have had a number of complaints from citizens who have sons in colleges and others who have children in school about the case with the disgusting liquor are among the boys and girls."

This is a disgrace and destructive to good society and constitutes one of the most serious offenses against our laws that I know of.—From the instructions of Judge Kneass to the Federal Grand Jury at Tulsa, Okla., as reported by the Tribune.

The Tribune adds: "The reference to school children is believed to have been caused by the recent investigation of a high school fraternity dance at which liquor is alleged to have been found."

Prohibition Powerful Influence for Evil

With Youth, Says Ex-Secretary Weeks

Former Secretary of War Weeks, on his arrival at New Orleans January 21, after his return from South America, was interviewed on prohibition. According to an Associated Press Dispatch, he said:

"I believe prohibition is responsible for the great crime wave that is sweeping the country. It is a powerful influence for evil with the younger criminal element."
